

MAUI TWENTY YEARS AGO

(From Maui News of Dec. 14, 1901.)

Wailuku cemetery is beautifully situated and no more ideal spot for "God's Acre" could be found but for years no one has borne the responsibility of looking after the cemetery and the result is pitiable. A few plots are well kept up but this only adds to the forlorn condition of the rest. It is a question of where the title really rests: the trustees are dead or absent and no one but the grave diggers know where some of the bodies rest. After a few years they too will forget. What is every body's business is generally attended to by no one. There should be a meeting called to have the ground put into the hands of live trustees. Public spirited citizens certainly can be found who will be willing to devote a little of their time to the object.

The contract for the erection of Castle Hall for the K. P.'s has been let to G. Brown for $1600 the lodge to furnish the lumber and materials. Lumber will be on the ground Monday, work will start Wednesday and the building is to be completed in 90 days.

On Thursday morning a prolonged blowing of the whistle at Wailuku Mill announced that the new season grind was starting and flush times are now at hand for business men in general.

For two or three weeks past the pumps at Puunene plantation have stood idle and allowed Dame Nature to furnish the irrigation water. They started up again Saturday and shut down once more on Monday because of renewed copious rains.

The circuit court is still in session at Lahaina and unless a large number of cases are continued it cannot finish up its work today. The grand jury returned 11 true bills of indictment.

Some time last night a daring and carefully planned burglary was committed in Hoffman & Vettleson's store. The thief broke a small hole in the plate glass show window, reached through and took six watches. Some blood found on the edge of the glass indicates that he cut his hand or wrist which may lead to his detection.

Telegraph News

Two recent decisions by the United States Supreme Court hold that the Philippines are an integral part of the United States under the Treaty of Paris.

In a dense fog which shrouded San Francisco Harbor on the night of November 30, the steamers Sausalito and San Rafael collided the latter going to the bottom in 20 minutes. The number of lives lost with the sinking of the ferry boat has as yet not been determined. Many passengers were severely injured.

A bitter tariff debate is raging in the German Reichstag.

A full agreement has been reached between Denmark and the United States for the sale and purchase of the Danish West Indies.

Military authorities have been compelled to expell all representatives of English business houses at Manila from the Islands of Samar and Leyte as they have been engaged in traffic with natives who are in revolt.

Haiku Night School
Boys Have Social

The boys of the night school at Haiku had a special evening of entertainment of Dec. 5. The makai room of ment, speeches, music and games, the the Japanese school building was beautifully decorated with green shrubbery and American flags. On the ceiling colored electric lights had been arranged in a monogram spelling the word "Aloha."

The program began with songs and speech making after which Mr. Pleasant showed three reels of motion pictures, showing views of the city of Washington and of two of America's principal parks. There was more music, games and stunts; after which refreshments of cake and lemonade was provided and served by the boys of the school. The guests included the teachers of the public school, three of whom are teaching in the night school, Mr. and Mrs. Tanaka, and the families and friends of the boys. The Haiku night school this year enrolls 35 boys and is one of the most successful of the large number of evening schools on Maui.

New High School Is Formally Opened

Formal opening exercises of the Maui High School's new building at Hamakuaopoko were held Thursday evening. The large new concrete building was attractively lighted and the 150 guests were shown about all those rooms in which the lighting system has been completed.

Dr. F. F. Bunker, secretary of the Pan Pacific Union gave the main address of the evening, and spoke on two phases in the growth of the American youth. He told of the initiative and independent spirit and what appears to be a lack of respect for superiors interspersing his talk with stories of actual cases. Prof. Vaughan MacCaughy, superintendent of public instruction, spoke of the new forms of education.

The music of the evening was well chosen and the exercises closed with the singing of the Maui High School song.
